recruitment

All of our specialist sectors are focused on offering you a tailored solution to both your permanent and professional freelance needs. Solution believe relationships are built through transparency and communication, we take time to understand the profile and culture of your business.

Our candidate network, strong market knowledge, high profile dedicating advertising campaigns (including joint advertising) and continually evolving website offers you the benefit of access to unique high calibre technical and professional candidates.

All candidates are subject to our rigorous screening program to ensure their skills, experience and personality is right to complement your business both in the short and long term.

executive search

Due to the ever increasing skill shortfall within the built environment a number of our clients are 'retaining' our services to partner them in headhunting talented individuals for business critical positions.

There are significant advantages to using a retained headhunting service. Whereas the industry norm relies heavily on databases, the Solution retained service is a purely research based process.

We find that the most talented individuals do not always have enough time to seek alternative employment and it may well take a professional and confidential approach to make them realise the potential openings that an alternative employer could provide.

We pride ourselves on our results and continue to develop long term relationships based on this thorough and highly successful method of recruitment.

training & development

We recognise that of all the resources that you have as a business, the only one that offers you a genuine opportunity to transform productivity and profitability is people.

Solution believe that its important employers recognise that people seek to develop their current skill set, enabling them to further their career.

Effective training & development should lead solely from the identification of your future goal and objectives.

Solution are keen to work in partnership with you by developing the talent of your people so each and everyone can contribute to the success of your organisation.

Develop your business by developing your people...
